How we support children with Special Educational Needs and Disabilities

Our vision and how we hope to achieve it

Our aim is for all children to achieve the best they can in every aspect of learning and social and emotional development, so that they have a positive view of themselves and their achievements by the time they leave. We view each child as an individual with strengths and needs which we can develop and nurture during their time at Stoke Hill. We aim to create confident and resilient pupils who take ownership over their learning and behaviour and are valued and included in all aspects of school life.

Information about Stoke Hill

Stoke Hill is a three-form entry Federation, arranged over two school sites. The Infant and Nursery School admits children into our Nursery class from the age of three, until they leave at age 7. We admit pupils from a range of nurseries into our Reception classes. The majority of our pupils transfer to the Junior School. We have children with a range of special educational needs and disabilities (SEND) attending our school, however we do not specialise in any particular type of SEND provision. This provision is overseen by our Special Educational Needs and Disabilities Coordinator (SENDCo) who is trained in the National Award for Special Educational Needs Coordination (NASENCo).

How we give parents and pupils a voice

We have a culture of encouraging pupils to advocate for themselves if they have a concern and seek out support from an adult either in class or through the pastoral team.

All children are invited to share their viewpoints through whole school events such as assemblies. They are given the opportunity to participate in decision-making through our School Council. Children are also actively encouraged to share their views on learning and school life prior to meetings to discuss their needs.

Parents are regularly invited into school to attend meetings and are encouraged to share their views.

How we know if a child has special educational needs

We aim to identify pupils with SEND and act on our concerns as early as possible. These concerns may be raised either within school by members of staff or brought to our attention by parents and carers.

When a concern is raised within school the first step is to address the needs through additional strategies and intervention that is planned and monitored by the class teacher. If concerns persist, the class teacher liaises with the SENDCo to consider their response to intervention and agree appropriate next steps. This could involve further and more detailed assessment from an outside agency. Parents and carers are involved in this process at the earliest opportunity through informal discussion about their child.

If at any time a parent or carer has a concern about their child, they can raise this with their child's class teacher who will liaise with them over any actions that are put in place.

In the Early Years staff meet with the parents of every child before they start school. This is an opportunity for parents to share any concerns they may have, which will then be closely monitored, and action taken as appropriate.

We also use screening tools such as language screeners as an additional tool to accurately identify special educational needs.

A programme of parent workshops is currently being developed to support parents in recognising additional needs in their child and knowing when to ask for help.

What we do to help children with special educational needs

We have a range of additional support programmes within school to help children with their learning. These include:

- Funfit
- online English and Maths programs such as Nessy and Numbots
- Little Wandle phonics catch-up
- THRIVE-based pastoral support
- speech & language intervention
- LEGO Therapy

We have a Speech Therapist, who comes into school every other week to support staff and oversee the provision for children with language and communication needs.

We also have an Educational Psychologist who comes into school on a regular basis to assess and advise on the best way to support children with their learning. This happens in consultation with their parents.

In class children with SEND are given additional support with their learning through quality first teaching. Strategies and resources such as visual aids or writing slopes may be used in lessons. All our additional support is closely overseen by class teachers and the SENDCo.

Pupils with SEND have their additional support monitored, and their progress reviewed with parents each term. In addition, children with EHC Plans have a review meeting every year which involves their parents or carers and any professionals who play a significant role in their learning.

We ensure that all children with SEN or a disability are treated equally at all times, and we encourage both children and adults to speak up should they feel they are being treated unfairly.

How we adapt our teaching for children with special educational needs

We place an emphasis on quality first teaching and recognise that all teachers are teachers of SEND. When a child is experiencing difficulty, we support them in class by making sure we have a clear understanding of their needs and match the learning carefully to this. Further support can involve the use of strategies to address their needs. It is the responsibility of the class teacher to ensure that this is done. Children with additional needs will always have access to quality input from their class teacher. As a result of this, children with SEND are given every opportunity to be successful in their learning.

Children with the greatest need are given targeted adult support in lessons. However, they are also given encouragement, opportunity, and the resources to work independently as often as possible.

How we decide what resources we can give to a child with special educational needs

Each child's individual needs are carefully considered when allocating support. Those with the greatest need will receive targeted adult support as appropriate. Children with an EHC Plan have support recommended in their Plan which is then put in place by their class teacher. Support is planned in advance at the beginning of each year. By doing this we make sure that each child's support is matched to their needs.

The support that is being given is regularly reviewed throughout the year and if it is not helping to improve the child's learning, it is changed.

The school also has a range of resources available to pupils with SEND to support their learning. This includes access to Chromebooks and sensory equipment, amongst other things. This equipment is reviewed and updated on a regular basis.

How we check that a child is making progress and how we keep parents informed

The SENDCo observes children and meets with class teachers on a termly basis to look at the progress of every child with SEND in their class. At this meeting the class teacher and SENDCo discuss how the child is responding to support and whether anything else needs to be put in place.

Parents are invited to come into school twice a year to discuss their child's progress at parent-teacher consultation meetings. Parents are also welcome to share their concerns informally with the class teacher or SENDCo at any time. Children with an EHC Plan also have an additional review meeting once a year to discuss progress against targets that have been set.

Support we offer for children's health and general wellbeing

There is a warm and friendly atmosphere across both schools which supports and encourages pupils to ask for help. Children are given clear expectations around behaviour and encouraged to take responsibility for themselves. Occasionally a pupil may be supported with an individual behaviour plan tailored to their needs. We always work with parents to resolve behavioural issues as soon as they occur. We are keen to promote good attendance at school.

The welfare of pupils is promoted in classes through the PSHE curriculum, where children are encouraged to share their successes and concerns. We offer emotional support for identified individuals through the Heads-Up programme and Play Therapy in some circumstances. There is further pastoral support available for pupils on a referral or drop-in basis from a THRIVE trained adult who can listen to their concerns and help them problem-solve for themselves.

At the Junior School children can access the lunchtime club if they do not wish to be in the playground. This can include art or games which encourage friendship, good social skills, and confidence building. At the Infant School a cozy corner is provided in the playground for children who need a quieter play experience.

If a child has a medical need this information is passed onto the SEND team who ensure that the appropriate people are informed, and relevant support is put in place. In certain circumstances medication may be administered within school, but only once this has been agreed. Some support staff are First Aid trained and many have additional training in specialist areas such as diabetes.

Specialist services we use when we think extra help is needed

We have a range of specialist external services available which we can access. These include:

- Educational Psychology
- Speech & Language Therapy
- Occupational Therapy
- Specific Learning Difficulties Team

- Communication and Interaction team (autism and social communication difficulties)
- Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services (CAMHS)
- Vision Impairment team
- Hearing Impairment Team
- Behaviour and Attendance Support Service
- Vbranch House

Advice from these agencies is sought in agreement with parents and carers and any recommendations made are put in place by the class teacher and SENDCo.

The training our staff have had or are getting

Class teachers attend the equivalent of five training days in school across the year. These can either be related to aspects of the curriculum or focus exclusively on SEND issues. Teaching Assistants have the opportunity to join these and their skills are also developed through Appraisals.

We also run staff meetings in school around specific areas such as quality first teaching in order to staff develop awareness and understanding of special educational needs.

Members of staff who work with SEND children are given the opportunity to attend specialist training courses covering a range of areas outside of school in order to support the work they do with the children.

Staff also receive regular training and advice from specialists who visit school, such as the teacher of the deaf and speech therapist.

How we include children/young people in activities and trips

All our children take part in school trips and activities. Whenever a trip is arranged, a Risk Assessment is carried out, and special arrangements are put in place where necessary so that all children can be involved. For example, an extra member of staff may be provided. In some circumstances parents and carers support their children on a trip out of school.

Every year we take our Year 6 children on a residential trip away from school. This gives children a huge confidence boost and sense of achievement. We actively encourage all children to attend, regardless of any disability or particular needs they may have and make any necessary adjustments to accommodate this.

At the Junior School we run a range of after-school clubs throughout the year.

Our school environment

Both schools are fully wheelchair accessible and have disabled toilets and a changing room.

We have several rooms within the building available for therapeutic and group work, including dedicated areas that are equipped for sensory input. Some classrooms benefit from Soundfield systems and each classroom has blackout blinds installed.

Equipment such as frames and adapted chairs can be accessed for pupils if necessary. Every year group is also equipped with a range of resources to meet the needs of pupils with SEND in class.

We have a fantastic outdoor space with climbing equipment to help with physical development; as well as a wild garden, vegetable patch, chickens, and a pond to explore.

How we prepare for children joining our school and leaving our school

When a child joins our school in the Early Years a transition meeting is held with staff from the previous setting in order to handover information. Visits to other settings are also made on some occasions. In Nursery and Reception there is a flexible settling-in period dependent on how the child adapts to the school environment.

If a child with SEND joins the school at any point, handover information is passed on from the previous school and a meeting is held with parents or carers to discuss their needs and any concerns they may have. Children with EHC Plans will receive priority when applying for a school place.

The transition process for SEND pupils to secondary school starts early, and for some children transition plans begin in Year 5. During the summer term in Year 6, information is shared with secondary schools. Pupils with SEND are offered additional visits to their secondary school in order to familiarise themselves with the school and build confidence. Alongside this, additional transition work is carried out in school to ensure children feel knowledgeable and prepared. The SENDCo liaises with the SEND team of the receiving school and seeks the support of other agencies to ensure a smooth transition.

Transition visits are also arranged within school for children who are moving from the Infants to the Juniors so they can familiarise themselves with the school site.

Comprehensive transition meetings are held between the SENDCo and new class teams for children with an EHC Plan.

How parents are involved in school life

Our aim at Stoke Hill is to work closely with parents in order to support their child, and we value their contribution at all times.

Parents are invited into school at the start of the year for a 'meet the teacher' evening and twice a year to discuss their child's learning. Parents are also regularly invited to attend SEND meetings concerning their child. Parents can arrange to meet with the SENDCo or class teachers at their request to discuss any concerns they may have.

Parents are invited into school for events such as 'school in the dark' and coffee mornings. They are invited to annual class assemblies.

Who to contact for more information

For a concern relating to special educational needs and disability contact Vicky Absalom (SENDCo)

For any other concern or for information on joining the school contact Claire McKimm (Infant and Nursery School Headteacher), Jamie Sullivan (Junior School Headteacher) or Yvonne Hammerton-Jackson (Federation Executive Head)
